Detailed role-play playbook

Preparation - 10 minutes

1. Read the scenario and your confidential role card.
2. Mark facts, assumptions, emotions, interests, and non-negotiable constraints.
3. Define the shared purpose and the communication outcome you want.
4. Choose the first phrase you will use and the evidence you will listen for.

Round 1 - baseline

1. Review the evidence pack and separate facts from assumptions.
2. Map the message journey from sales promise to customer update.
3. Identify three failure points across people, process, channel, culture, or feedback.
4. Compare two credible best practices and rate suitability for EverBright.
5. Create a benchmark with current state, target, metric, owner, and review date.
6. Deliver a five-minute audit briefing and receive observer feedback.

Observer coaching - 7 minutes

- Record exact language and observable behaviour, not personality judgements.
- Identify one strength, one meaning gap, and one alternative phrase.
- Check clarity, listening, tone, channel, ownership, and follow-up.

Round 2 - deliberate practice

1. Repeat the decision moment with the coached alternative.
2. Confirm shared meaning, action, owner, timing, and escalation.
3. End only when every role can state the same decision in their own words.

Debrief

1. Where exactly does shared meaning break down?
2. Which evidence supports each diagnosis?
3. Which best practice is suitable—and what must be adapted?
4. How would the benchmark improve team collaboration and customer satisfaction?
