Activity 03 - Channel Choice for a Time-Critical Hotel Service Failure

Course: Mastering the Art of Communication to Enhance Team Collaboration and Customer Satisfaction Course Code: TGS-2023037467 Alignment: K2, K4, A1 Version: v10.0 | 16 August 2026

Detailed role-play playbook

Preparation - 10 minutes

1. Read the scenario and your confidential role card.
2. Mark facts, assumptions, emotions, interests, and non-negotiable constraints.
3. Define the shared purpose and the communication outcome you want.
4. Choose the first phrase you will use and the evidence you will listen for.

Round 1 - baseline

1. Classify each communication need by urgency, ambiguity, reach, and record.
2. Select the primary and backup channel for each audience.
3. Draft a 60-second huddle brief and a concise written update.
4. Create escalation triggers for changed impact, missed timing, and vulnerable guests.
5. Simulate a 10-minute incident cycle with one injected change.
6. Evaluate the portfolio for clarity, consistency, and decision traceability.

Observer coaching - 7 minutes

- Record exact language and observable behaviour, not personality judgements.
- Identify one strength, one meaning gap, and one alternative phrase.
- Check clarity, listening, tone, channel, ownership, and follow-up.

Round 2 - deliberate practice

1. Repeat the decision moment with the coached alternative.
2. Confirm shared meaning, action, owner, timing, and escalation.
3. End only when every role can state the same decision in their own words.

Debrief

1. Which messages require a rich channel and why?
2. What must be recorded after the huddle?
3. How will guests receive consistent information across shifts?
4. Which metric shows the channel portfolio worked?
